

COLOR OF EDUCATION

William P Jackson

Dr. William P. Jackson, our founder, and Executive Director is a former teacher and a current parent. William has a PhD in educational psychology and his research focused on how Black parents make decisions related to their child's race and education. William has led and managed the development of our three educational equity assessment and planning tools by establishing research partnerships with professors from R1 institutions.