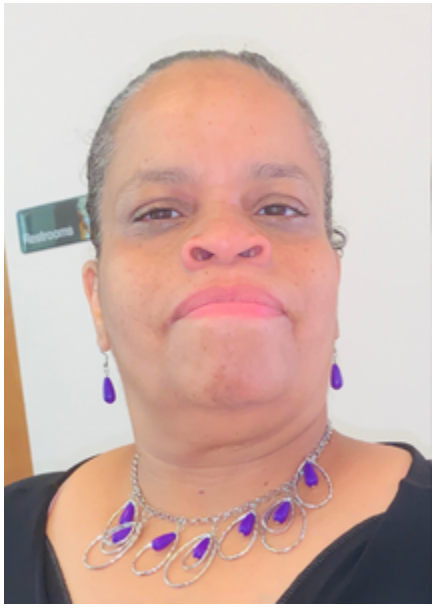
COLOR OF EDUCATION



Roxann Dixon

Roxann is the mother of a Durham County student and fierce parent advocate. Being a parent has taught her that one of the most important things is to love unconditionally and never to be afraid to ask for what you want or need. Advocacy is an important tool that was necessary to give her son a voice when he did not yet have one of his own. Roxann's goal is to nurture and prepare her son to be who God has destined him to be. Roxann willingly stands in the gap until her son's toolbox is filled with all the tools required for him to succeed. While being a parent is her main motivation she uses her voice for all that need to be heard.
